

ENGINEERING MANAGER/HEAD OF ENGINEERING

Location: Malaysia

Nationality: Local

Type: Permanent

Post: 1

The position will be heading the engineering department; hence the candidate has to be an experienced manager with background in leading a team apart from having technical background in communications system. He or she will also act as a mentor to the team apart from managing Project Managers expectation in delivering the operational requirements.

Requirement

- Minimum 10 years in communications industry or 5 years in construction/railway engineering communication system. Project related to the Comms. SCADA, CCTV, ISPS, EER Annex, Telephone, BLS and HFS System Work Package and at least 5 years as a head of department/team/project.
- Experience as contractor and managing contract and client's requirement

Skills/Attributes

- Understanding of technical specifications, the scope of work and the work programme.
- Understanding of Radio Communication Systems Work Package.
- Good interpersonal, presentation and communication in Bahasa Malaysia and English
- Self-driven, independent, energetic, and a team player.
- Able to communicate to all level of personnel within organization.

Main responsibilities

- Heading the engineering department towards meeting the company business objective.
- Assisting business development team in preparing the tender evaluation and tender submission.
- Produce Preliminary Design Review (PDR) Document and Drawing based on contract requirement.
- Report to Project Manager on status of the Project/works related System Work Package.
- Managing the subcontractor and ensure their submission and works are in compliance with the contract requirement.
- Ensure that all milestones and requirements are fulfilled and delivered in time.
- Liaise, meeting and co-ordination with project team, vendors and clients.
- Responsible in project control and management of construction and commissioning activities in order to meet clients and specifications requirement.
- Develop team members/engineers for their individual career progression and development.
- Act as the department team members mentor.